

Peter Kohn's Top 23 List

(Reported by Dave Campbell '09)

1. Once a keeper, you're always a keeper.
2. If you're not giving it your all, you're not giving enough.
3. A smile and a nod can say more than words.
4. To give is to receive.
5. You're never too old, too veteran, or too good for a ball hunt.
6. When necessary, slow down.
7. Hershey bars melt in your mouth and in your pants.
8. Put others first.
9. You can't have too many friends... or napkins.
10. Storm Davis pitched for the orioles in Game 4 of the 1983 World Series.
11. Wallets are overrated.
12. The 70s and 80s had, by far, the greatest fashion trends.
13. Avoid picking sides, unless that side is Middlebury.
14. With plates of food a close second, people make the greatest subjects of a photograph.
15. Money is only evil if you make it that way.
16. Sing.
17. It's never a bad day for French onion soup and a cup of hot tea.
18. Jockstraps are a perfectly acceptable form of underwear.
19. American trains have a fascinating, well-documented history and are an under-appreciate form of transportation.
20. Always eat dessert.
21. Humility is the greatest sign of confidence.
22. Every now and then, treat your friends to dinner.
23. Middlebury is family.